

Megan's Lament

Smyth/Brown Feb 2003

I walk out in the sunshine
And on down to the waterline
Wondering if those rocks are half
As hard as this old heart of mine

He promised he would love me
As long as wind and gravity
Played upon the restless sea
But now he's gone away

So roll you ocean waves roll
Crash upon those rugged rocks
My darling was not faithful
And now I walk alone

I have a bonny baby
She's grown and gone as sure she must
And my husband he is only
Faithful to his wanderlust

My mother tried to warn me
Don't love a man who sails the sea
His only bride's the rolling tide
And you'll be all alone
