

One More Time

W. Smyth April 2007

As morning shadows creep
I watch you in your sleep
Lost in some silent dream
Nothing is as it seems

With a soul left alone and wild
With the tears of an unloved child
With holes in this heart of mine
Let me love you one more time

You came to me like the dawn
You smiled and the fear was gone
You came lonely to my door
And you were alone no more

We walked through the years as one
But now love you say it's done
So before you break this heart of mine
Let me love you one more time

I don't know the place within
Where you end and I begin
I don't know what will live on
After my love is gone

One song to remember me
One kiss and I'll set you free
Before you break this heart of mine
Let me love you one more time
